No, not a chance. There are so many section 10 waters. The Jacksonville district is also the busiest with all their wet states. Plus they still have all the RHA permits (permittees may need to get 404 from state and RHA section 10 from Corps), all civil works projects etc. and lastly, anything that EPA reviews (eg., any permits that may affect a T&E species) we will send to the Corps for review. 😊 they are not out of it.

Does this mean all the Corps folks in Jacksonville lose their jobs?

Just closing the loop on items today:

FRN and Docket

- FRN posted – link below.
- Final document are being posted to the docket; should be done today or tomorrow. – both HW and the docket folks cranked all hours to get this done. I have worked with both contractors to correct errors (If I missed anything please let me know).
- Adding note to the file and will likely need to upload to docket and explanation as to why our prepublication version says “effective” and the published version says “applicable”. Short answer OFR changed it.

Web page

- updated 404g page with link to FRN.
- Can't update link on interactive map until FL update's their page. FL's web page still says assumption 😊

Notifications/press

- I informed ASWM of the publication of the FRN
- We, mostly R4, have been fielding inquiries from press and legal scholars e.g., why did our notice change from prepub saying FL will be “effective” to published version of FRN saying “applicable”

Corps transfer

- 450 actions will be transferred to the state (permit applications, JDs, permit mods, etc) hard drives with permits to be hand delivered to state tomorrow.

Happy Holidays everyone if I don't talk you before Thursday.

Subject: Federal Register publication of the approval of FL assumption

The Federal Register Notice was published today regarding the EPA's approval of Florida's request for 404 Assumption and the effective date of Florida's program (today). The R4 website has also been updated, which provides access to the FRN. (see <https://www.epa.gov/publicnotices/notice-epas-approval-floridas-clean-water-act-section-404-assumption-request>).

There are currently 27 documents available through the FRN including EPA's decision document, the response to comments, EPA's letter to the Florida Governor, and EPA's letter to the Secretary of the Army. The other documents are in the process of being made ADA 508 compliant and then uploaded to our docket. You can access the documents in the docket by clicking on the link in this email and then clicking on the "View More Documents" link at the top left of the webpage.

I hope all of you have safe and enjoyable holidays!

Tom
